

Pre-Lent:

The paschal season of the Church is preceded by the season of Great Lent, which is itself preceded by its own liturgical preparation. The first sign of the approach of Pre Lent comes with the Gospel reading about Zacchaeus the tax-collector who "sought to see who Jesus was"

Last Sunday was that of the Publican and the Pharisee, where we are called to see ourselves as we really are in the light of Christ's teaching, and to beg for mercy.

This Sunday, in preparation for Great Lent, is the Sunday of the Prodigal Son. Hearing the parable of Christ about God's loving forgiveness, we are called to come to ourselves as did the prodigal son, to see ourselves as being "in a far country" far from the Father's house, and to make the movement of return to God. We are given every assurance by the Master that the Father will receive us with joy and gladness. We must only "arise and go," confessing our self-inflicted and sinful separation from that "home" where we truly belong (Lk 15:11-24).

On this day the Church remembers:

Sunday of the Prodigal Son • St. Leo, Bishop of Catania in Sicily (ca. 780) • Venerable Agathon the Wonderworker of the Kiev Caves (FarCaves 13th-14th c.) • Beheading of Ven. Cornelius, Abbot of the Pskov Caves (1570) • Hieromartyr Sadoc (Sadoth) the Bishop of Persia (342-344) • 128 Martyrs in Persia (342-344) • St Agathon the Pope of Rome (682)

*I have recklessly forgotten Your glory, O Father; and among sinners I have scattered the riches which You had given me.
Therefore, I cry to You like the Prodigal:
"I have sinned before You, O compassionate Father; receive me a penitent and make me as one of Your hired servants."*

Readings:

- Corinthians 6:12-20 (Sunday of the Prodigal Son)
- Luke 15:11-32 (Sunday of the Prodigal Son)

The Lord said this parable: "There was a man who had two sons; and the younger of them said to his father, 'Father, give me the share of the property that falls to me.' And he divided his living between them. Not many days later, the younger son gathered all he had and took his journey into a far country, and there he squandered his property in loose living. And when he had spent everything, a great famine arose in that country, and he began to be in want. So he went and joined himself to one of the citizens of that country, who sent him into his fields to feed swine. And he would gladly have fed on the pods that the swine ate; and no one gave him anything. But when he came to himself he said, 'How many of my father's hired servants have bread enough and to spare, but I perish here with hunger! I will arise and go to my father, and I will say to him, 'Father, I have sinned against heaven and before you; I am no longer worthy to be called your son; treat me as one of your hired servants.' And he arose and came to his father. But while he was yet at a distance, his father saw him and had compassion, and ran and embraced him and kissed him. And the son said to him, 'Father, I have sinned against heaven and before you; I am no longer worthy to be called your son.' But the father said to his servants, 'Bring quickly the best robe, and put it on him; and put a ring on his hand, and shoes on his feet; and bring the fatted calf and kill it, and let us eat and make merry; for this my son was dead, and is alive again; he was lost, and is found.' And they began to make merry. Now his elder son was in the field; and as he came and drew near to the house, he heard music and dancing. And he called one of the servants and asked what this meant. And he said to him, 'Your brother has come, and your father has killed the fatted calf, because he has received him safe and sound.' But he was angry and refused to go in. His father came out and entreated him, but he answered his father, 'Lo, these many years I have served you, and I never disobeyed your command; yet you never gave me a kid, that I might make merry with my friends. But when this son of yours came, who has devoured your living with harlots, you killed for him the fatted calf!' And he said to him, 'Son, you are always with me, and all that is mine is yours. It was fitting to make merry and be glad, for this your brother was dead, and is alive; he was lost, and is found.'"
